of Medical Practice arises from the bad quality of Medical substances, seems to acquire daily confirmation. Through faulty preparation and commercial competition, many preparations formerly regarded as of primary importance are gradually going out of use, while others produce effects and cause accidents that do not properly belong to them as described in the Pharmacopea. New remedies, as suggested and offered for trial are often found so imperfect, and varying so much in chemical character and strength that they are either condemned or received upon false premises, both equally at variance with the proper progress in therapeutice; whilst most practitioners daily feel that the Materia Medica is not rich enough either to lose its old remedies, or to sacrifice opportunities of acquiring new ones.
